THREE JUDGES IN FIGHT AT SANITY TRIAL

Wild Charges Hurlled at One Another in Los Angeles Court

LEGAL BURLESQUE IS UNPARALLELED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2 (AP).—A legal burlesque probably unparalleled in any court of law occurred in Los Angeles Hall of Justice today, as three Superior Court judges hurled charges and recriminations in a battle for control of a sanity hearing involving Louis R. Payne, twenty-one-year-old convicted slayer of his mother and brother.

The odd travesty on justice came as a smashing climax to the heated controversy between Judge Harry F. Sewell, who has been presiding at Payne's murder and sanity trials, and Frank C. Collier, presiding over the Superior Court.

CHARGES DRUNKENNESS

Collier, making accusations of drunkenness against Sewell and demanding his resignation, yesterday ordered the sanity hearing transferred from Sewell's court to that of Judge Ruben Schmidt.

Today Judge Sewell was about to begin court when Judge Schmidt rushed in to be met by the flash of photographers' lights. He gave orders that no pictures be taken, but was interrupted by Sewell, who shouted that he was in charge of the trial and would issue any orders necessary.

While the two judges stood up and shouted at each other above the din and confusion in the babbling courtroom, a sheriff's officer commanded the bailiff to take Payne, witnesses, the jury and all records into Judge Schmidt's court.

INQUIRY FINDS EXTRAVAGANCE

Instances Cited in Report on Niagara Parks Board Administration

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP).—Extravagance and inefficiency in the administration of the Niagara Parks Commission, warranting a complete reorganization of the operation of one of Canada's premier scenic and tourist attractions, was revealed in the report of the commissioners who investigated the operation of the commission. The report was submitted to Premier Mitchell Hepburn today, and details of its contents will be made public later.

Mr. Hepburn said tonight that a saving of $25,000 could be effected in the cost of administering the parks which overlook the Niagara Gorge and Niagara Falls without impairing efficiency, and that more than $25,000 additional revenue could be obtained.

ENTERTAINING COSTLY

As instances of extravagance, Mr. Hepburn said that the report revealed $10,520 was spent in three years in entertaining the friends of the commissioners and the friends of the Government.

In the evidence, it was revealed that the commission operated a number of departments, including a police force, which cost $72,000 in the last five years. This was in addition to a sum of $26,500 expended for guards. One constable on the police force told the commissioners that in his thirteen years of service he had not made a single arrest. The record, produced for the commissioners in evidence, showed that in five years within the bounds of the park there had been thirty-six prosecutions for offences and twenty-eight convictions.

RIOTS CONTINUE IN MINNEAPOLIS

Scattered Violence Reported in Strike Area Despite Presence of State Troops

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 2 (AP).—Scattered violence and low peace plans were wedged into the truck drivers' strike, today, as employers proposed to terminate the walkout immediately, in the face of marauding pickets, who beat four vehicle operators, despite military rule.

Coincidentally, with the arrest of twenty-six pickets, this afternoon, strike leaders determined to seek a meeting with Governor Floyd B. Olson and representatives of the employers, to discuss the latter's terms of settlement.

Admiral of the Fleet Says Canada Should Have More Naval Units

QUEBEC, Aug. 2 (CP).—"Canada is the worst defended Dominion of them all. She should have some defences of her own. There should certainly be more naval units." These comments were made today by Sir Reginald Yorke Tyrwhitt, Admiral of the British Fleet, on landing here today en route to the reunion of the Canadian Corps in Toronto.

Continuing his comments on Canada's defences, Admiral Tyrwhitt said he "understood" a naval college was once started in Canada, but it did not amount to much.

"Naturally," he added, "I am interested in the defence of trade routes, and that is a subject of great importance to Canada."

Delegates From All Sections of Canada Here for Conclave

More Than 150 Representatives Present for Opening of Thirteenth Annual Kinsmen Convention—Resolutions Passed—Heavy Agenda Today

WITH more than 150 delegates, representing Canadian cities from Ottawa to Victoria, attending, the thirteenth annual convention of the National Association of Kinsmen Clubs opened here yesterday. Business sessions and social engagements occupied the attention of the visitors during the day. The gathering will terminate tomorrow.

GUNS AND MEN MOVED TO HALL

Move Seen as Answer to Order to Long to Dismiss Militia

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3 (AP).—More machine guns and men were added to the militia-guarded registration office here, this morning, in a swift after-midnight dash from the National Guard barracks on the edge of the city.

Several squads of militiamen drove up to the office, in the city hall annex, and a truck load of machine guns was taken inside.

ANSWER TO ORDER
The move was interpreted as Senator Huey P. Long's answer to a court order, which, yesterday, commanded him to dismiss the militia.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmley countered quickly by moving a force of about 100 policemen into the city hall, separated from the Guardsmen by only a narrow street.

Baked Potato and Steamed Melon Is Hot Weather Diet

LEONARDTOWN, Pa., Aug. 2 (AP).—In Calvert County, residents reported that the sun became so hot that it baked potatoes in the field, but garden owners in this St. Mary's County town report watermelons so hot that they got up heads of steam and exploded.

GAIN SHOWN IN TOURISTS

Increase of Thirty-Seven Per Cent Reported in Number of Automobiles

An increase of 37 per cent in the number of tourists' automobiles coming to Vancouver Island, via Sidney and Victoria, is shown in figures released, yesterday, by George L. Warren, publicity commissioner.

So far this season a total of 3,700 automobiles have entered the ports of Sidney and Victoria, as against 2,697 for the same period of 1933. This is an increase of 1,003 cars.

The number of passengers carried by these cars totaled 9,232 this year, compared with 7,166 for the corresponding period of last year, or an increase of 2,066 persons.

BALANCE OF TRADE

That the balance of tourist trade is in favor of Canada to a very great extent was revealed in the figures giving the number of Canadian cars that cleared outward from Sidney and Victoria.

The number so far this year is 1,091, as against 852. This shows that 2,509 more American cars came in than there were Canadian cars that went out.

In making the announcement, Mr. Warren expressed the view that this increase in tourist travel by automobile alone was most gratifying, when the longshoremen's strike was taken into consideration. The strike prevented the Grace Line and Pacific Steamship Company vessels from bringing hundreds of cars that otherwise would have swelled the tourist figures for Victoria.

"Now that the strike is over, I think we can safely expect that the increase in summer will be even greater than that already recorded," Mr. Warren stated.

SHIP CRIPPLED ON GULF ISLAND

Ss. Forset King Holed in Striking Reef in San Juan Group

SEATTLE, Aug. 2 (AP).—Conveyed by the coastguard cutter Snohomish, whose powerful pumps had aided in pumping water from her badly leaking hull, the 3,500-ton steamer Forset King was limping back to Seattle, late today, after she had freed herself from a reef near the San Juan Islands. The Forset King, which sailed from Tacoma, later the Snohomish steamed out of Seattle under forced draught, when additional messages said the ship was "leaking badly."

She is expected back here during the night. She is under time charter to the Northland Transportation Company.

Makes Himself Absolute Dictator of Germany and Receives Oath of Personal Allegiance From All Ranks in Army and Navy—Wants Office But Without New Title

Great National Funeral for Von Hindenburg on Tuesday

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Adolf Hitler, in a series of lightning-like moves, made himself absolute dictator of Germany today—he concentrated in his own hands the functions of President and of Chancellor as soon as the aged President and patriot, Paul von Hindenburg, died at Neudeck.

Then he called for and received an oath of personal allegiance from officers and men of the entire army and navy.

After these moves, amounting to a virtual coup d'etat, the former lance-corporal, who succeeded a field marshal, called for a plebiscite on August 19.

DECLINES THE TITLE

Although desiring the functions of the presidency, Hitler declined tonight to accept the title. In a letter to Wilhelm Frick, Minister of the Interior, Hitler outlined his plans to assume the office without the title, saying he desired henceforth to be known as before as "Fuehrer and Reichschancellor."

He directed that a "free secret election" be held, at which the centralization of power in his hands

P.G.E. CASE PRESENTED

Premier Pattullo Argues for Inclusion in National Railway System

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—Premier T. D. Pattullo today presented to the Dominion Government argument to show why the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, provincially-owned line, should be incorporated into the Canadian National system of railroads. The Government gave no answer to the British Columbia Premier, either on his railway case or on the plea for the appointment of a commission to investigate the financial relationship of the Pacific Province and the Dominion. Premier Bennett intimated that a careful study would be made by the Government before definite conclusions were reached.

A FINANCIAL DRAG

The Pacific Great Eastern, built between 1912 and 1921, as a branch line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, has been a financial drag on British Columbia for years. It runs from Squamish on Howe Sound to Quesnel on the Fraser River.

It was submitted by the British Columbia Premier, Attorney-General G. N. Sloan and Finance Minister John Hart.

1. Consolidation of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern into the Canadian National deprived the Pacific Great Eastern of the benefit of the agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific.

2. The Dominion has spent more money on railway projects in other provinces for which the credit of British Columbia has been pledged in common with other provinces.

OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE

3. Production of gold in the Cariboo and Bridge River districts is a matter of national importance.

4. The railway system could operate the Pacific Great Eastern

British Columbia Better Terms Case Opened at Ottawa

Appointment of Royal Commission Asked to Review Conditions of Union and to Redress Disparity in Financial Settlements Since 1871

ATTORNEY-GENERAL Sloan telegraphed from Ottawa at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to say that British Columbia had opened with the Federal Government its case for better terms under Confederation. In a thirty-two-page brief, the Province is appealing for a review of conditions under which it entered the partnership, with a request for redress of disparity in financial settlements said to have existed since 1871.

British Columbia's plea for better terms under Confederation was presented by Hon. Gordon Sloan, K.C., supported by Premier Pattullo and Hon. John Hart. It submitted, in essence, that for a long period of years this Province has suffered directly and indirectly from discrimination within the Canadian partnership; under conditions that drew large revenues away from the Province and its people on the one hand, and failed on the other to make any corresponding degree of compensation for the surrender of original rights.

The immediate request was for appointment of a Royal Commission to weigh these issues, and to suggest a settlement, which in itself would be a massive piece of accounting. Literally, millions of dollars are involved, if the contentions of British Columbia are upheld on review.

GROUND OF CLAIMS

Claims advanced fall into four chief categories: (1) That the Province has suffered and is still suffering from physical obstacles, without parallel in any other province, which have retarded its development; (2) That the Province has suffered from discrimination in the distribution of federal funds; (3) That the Province has suffered from discrimination in the distribution of federal funds; (4) That the Province has suffered from discrimination in the distribution of federal funds.

SUSPECTS HELD FOR ROBBERY

Three Men and Two Women Implicated in Recent Toronto Bank Holdup

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP).—Tentacles of the law reached into two provinces and across the international border, today, and brought into custody of Canadian authorities three men and two women, in an intensive drive to clear up a daring $25,000 robbery at a Toronto branch of the Bank of Montreal, a week ago today.

Those held by police: Albert Dorland, thirty-four, arrested in Toronto on a charge of armed robbery; John Valkoff, thirty-seven, Bulgarian poolroom operator in Montreal, arrested there on a similar charge; Ray Alderman, thirty-five, alias Gauvreux, arrested in Detroit for armed robbery; Mrs. Effie Hoar, twenty-seven, sister-in-law of Dorland, taken into custody with Alderman at Detroit, and held for questioning, and Bessie Harris, companion of Valkoff, also held for questioning.

SENT TO MONTREAL

Officers have been sent to Montreal to bring Valkoff and his companion here, while two detectives who, with Detroit authorities, rounded up Alderman and Mrs. Hoar, will return with their quarry.

Dorland was released from Kingston Penitentiary a year ago, after an inquiry into his allegations he had been "framed" by police into attempting a bank robbery in 1930.

Alderman and Mrs. Hoar, who said she lived in Toronto, were taken into custody after Detroit officers had led the two Toronto detectives to an apartment where they claim to have found the woman, and $8,000 in cash, described as part of the holdup loot.

ANOTHER MAN SOUGHT

Valkoff was found by Montreal officers, sleeping in his boarding house, where some money was found. Police would not indicate the amount, nor would they enlarge on a hint that another man was being trailed there.

It was reported an alleged accomplice had "confessed" to police and told officers where Dorland might be found.

ARGUMENT OVER STRIKE IS FATAL

Longshoreman Shoots Boilermaker Then Turns Gun on Self After Heated Debate

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 2 (AP).—One man was killed and another wounded here, today, in what police said was an argument over the recent general strike.

Sam Walton, forty-seven-year-old longshoreman, was found dead, a small calibre revolver by his side, Earle Sproule, a boilermaker, was shot through the mouth.

Police said they were informed the two men had been arguing about the strike, when Walton apparently became incensed, went to his room and returned with a gun. He fired one shot at Sproule, they said, and then turned the gun on himself.

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After five minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chopped ice.

BOXING CHIEF NAVAL EVENT

Officers' "At Home" and Cricket Game Are Other Celebration Features

An Army versus Navy boxing tournament tonight will be the chief official attraction on today's Navy Week programme, and it is expected that well over a 1,000 persons will be in attendance for the event, which is being sponsored by the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment and the Royal Canadian Navy at the Armories, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Twelve bouts have been arranged, including some fast two-round affairs, that promise to make the card a particularly exciting one. During the evening officers of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment will hold an "at home" in the officers' mess, to which visiting naval officers and civic dignitaries have been invited. This function will take place at 10:30 p.m., after the boxing has ended.

CRICKET GAME

At 1:30 o'clock a cricket team from H.M.S. Norfolk will play the Victoria Wanderers at the Macdonald Park. Afternoon tea will be served at 2:30 p.m. Tomorrow will see the conclusion of the Navy Week programme with soccer, rugby and swimming gala events arranged for the entertainment of the visitors.

An interesting story of a re-union was learned yesterday in connection with the visit to this port of H.M.S. Norfolk. Frank Hall, of the Victoria Customs House staff, met his cousin, John Westlake, who is aboard the visiting warship.

The last time the two met was during the war when Mr. Hall spent his leave from France with his cousin's family. "Westlake" at that time was but a boy of eleven years.

OAK BAY COUNCIL SETS TAX POLICY

To Allow Rebate of One-Half Penalties Provided Arrears Paid by September

Members of Oak Bay Municipal Council declared themselves tonight, ready to go as far as the act permits in granting consideration to property owners in arrears of taxes. Similar to the scheme adopted by Victoria City, the council will allow the system allowing a rebate of one-half of penalties and interest provided taxes are paid before the tax sale date, September 8. The municipal solicitor and clerk were instructed to prepare a by-law to that effect. The clerk was also instructed to write a letter to every property owner whose taxes are two years in arrears.

ordered copies of the constitution and by-laws revised and distributed to all clubs. A resolution calling for each club to be represented at the annual meeting was adopted, since it was pointed out that such a motion was contrary to aims of the Kinsmen Association.

Movement to have the member clubs meet weekly instead of fortnightly, as at present, was defeated. A motion from the Kinsmen Club of Edmonton seeking a change in the constitution, to allow the host club to have the majority of national officers elected from the club was ruled out of order.

TODAY'S BUSINESS

Today, it is expected, a resolution calling for Kinsmen to work towards abolition of war will be tabled for discussion. Three resolutions to this end have been presented by Chilliwack, Victoria and Toronto and Hamilton. A committee was working yesterday to co-ordinate these three motions into one resolution.

In addition to the business meetings, luncheons and social functions have been arranged for the visitors today. At 1:30 o'clock this morning an Inter-Club boat race will be held in the Inner Harbor. At 12:30 o'clock in the Tudor Grill of the Empress Hotel, B. C. Nicholas, managing editor of The Victoria Daily Times, will address the Kinsmen.

SOFTBALL GAME

Softball games for the Dominion championship of Kinsmen Clubs will be held in the afternoon at Beacon Hill Park, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. For the ladies, tennis, golf, riding, swimming and shopping tours are set for this morning. They will lunch at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, and in the afternoon make a tour of the Parliament Buildings, visit Hatley Park and inspect the R.C.N. Barracks, Esquimalt. Afternoon tea will be served at the Japanese Tea Gardens at 4:30 o'clock.

The feature social activity of the convention will take place tonight from 7:30 o'clock to 1 a.m., when the president's dinner and ball is conducted in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel. Cabaret acts and numerous novelties will all have their place on the evening's programme.

PEACE PARADE WILL BE HELD

Plans for Cenotaph Ceremony and Mass Meeting Are Completed

Arrangements have been completed for the peace parade, tomorrow, by the Cenotaph committee. The service at the memorial in Parliament Square will be held at 7:15 p.m. sharp, so that the procession from there to the band stand in Beacon Hill Park may arrive at the final meeting place in plenty of time to complete the ceremony before dark.

At the Cenotaph, Rev. E. F. Church will offer a prayer, and a hymn will be sung from hymn sheets to be distributed. After the hymn, those present will be asked to parade to Beacon Hill Park, via the Humboldt Street and Douglas Street.

At the park, Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia, will act as chairman to greet and introduce Mayor David Leeming, who will address the gathering. Other speakers will be Mrs. Kate Parker, Miss E. Matheson and Messrs. D. Smith, H. Shanton, D. Giong and Thomas Barnard.

A resolution dealing with the question of settling international disputes by other means than war will be put to a vote at the meeting, to which all who are interested are invited.

and such other matters as may be necessary will be decided.

"The necessity for regulating the question of the chief of state, caused by the national misfortune that has befallen our people," Hitler wrote, "leads me to issue the following order:

UNIQUE SIGNIFICANCE

"First, the greatness of the deed has given to the title of Reichspräsident, unique and non-recurring significance.

"According to the feeling of all of us, and in what it meant to us, this title is indissolubly bound up with the name of the great dead. I therefore request that be taken in official and unofficial communications to address me just as heretofore, as 'Fuehrer und Reichschancellor' only. This stipulation is to be observed in the Reich."

STEPPED IN CONVICTION

"Stepped in the conviction that all authority of the state must proceed from the people and by them be ratified in free, secret elections."

THREE JUDGES IN FIGHT AT TRIAL

To fill this manoeuvre, Judge Sewell declared a mistrial. As the jury, Payne and the witnesses were being heard out, he recessed his court and stated the case would "be set for retrial" later in the court of Judge Fletcher Bowron, presiding in the criminal divisions. The sanity hearing went forward, just the same, in Judge Schmidt's court. Sewell said if his order granting a mistrial was allowed to stand he would disqualify himself from conducting the retrial.

The order of the jury from Judge Bowron, who rushed up to the bench at the height of the fiery argument between the other two judges, who were giving commands and counter-commands to the bewildered court officers and shouting comments in stentorian voices.

STATUS IS UNKNOWN

In the fog of controversy many questions of law and procedure went unanswered, and the exact status of the young slayer's sanity hearing was unknown.

Judge Collier, although the presiding officer of the Superior Court, has admitted he is without authority to force Judge Sewell to resign, but he has given an order that no further cases be assigned to Sewell's court, claiming he has been suffering from bronchitis, has failed to appear on the bench three times since the sanity trial started.

CAUGHT PEDDLING OLD TREASURES

Antiques of Old Mexico Stolen at Chicago and Sold for Small Sums

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (CP).—The U.S. Fair is not going to be moved out to Chicago's pushcart market on Maxwell Street, if police have anything to say about it.

That's why they jailed Bernard Pollock, thirty, peddler. Pollock, who visited him today—namely Wilhelm Frick and Hermann Wilhelm Goering, cabinet ministers—that the world looked on Von Hindenburg as the last brake on impetuous, unbridled radicalism in Germany.

CONSERVATIVE ADVICE

Hitler's more conservative advisers urged he must give proof to the world that under his sole leadership Germany will not embark on policies and experiments which will bring her into conflict with her neighbors.

Political circles expect the Chancellor will incorporate into his funeral oration for Von Hindenburg, Tuesday, reassuring words as to the future of the third reich.

Withal, he will go through the motions of asking for popular approval. On August 19, the German people will go to the polls to put their stamp of approbation on the Cabinet's action in setting aside the law which provides for an interim president.

TO STAMP APPROVAL

Besides being asked to approve the combining of the presidency with the chancellorship, the voters also are expected to be asked to pass on Hitler's policies in general. This concentration of powers gives the forty-five-year-old former enlisted man authority which no Wilhelm or Bismarck held.

News of Von Hindenburg's death found the Chancellor somewhat haggard of countenance, padding back and forth in his long study. He was waiting to succeed a man as old as he, and at that hour he wanted to be alone. He pushed aside such intimates as

At the park, Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia, will act as chairman to greet and introduce Mayor David Leeming, who will address the gathering. Other speakers will be Mrs. Kate Parker, Miss E. Matheson and Messrs. D. Smith, H. Shanton, D. Giong and Thomas Barnard.

A resolution dealing with the question of settling international disputes by other means than war will be put to a vote at the meeting, to which all who are interested are invited.

To fill this manoeuvre, Judge Sewell declared a mistrial. As the jury, Payne and the witnesses were being heard out, he recessed his court and stated the case would "be set for retrial" later in the court of Judge Fletcher Bowron, presiding in the criminal divisions. The sanity hearing went forward, just the same, in Judge Schmidt's court. Sewell said if his order granting a mistrial was allowed to stand he would disqualify himself from conducting the retrial.

The order of the jury from Judge Bowron, who rushed up to the bench at the height of the fiery argument between the other two judges, who were giving commands and counter-commands to the bewildered court officers and shouting comments in stentorian voices.

STATUS IS UNKNOWN

In the fog of controversy many questions of law and procedure went unanswered, and the exact status of the young slayer's sanity hearing was unknown.

Judge Collier, although the presiding officer of the Superior Court, has admitted he is without authority to force Judge Sewell to resign, but he has given an order that no further cases be assigned to Sewell's court, claiming he has been suffering from bronchitis, has failed to appear on the bench three times since the sanity trial started.

Hitler's more conservative advisers urged he must give proof to the world that under his sole leadership Germany will not embark on policies and experiments which will bring her into conflict with her neighbors.

Political circles expect the Chancellor will incorporate into his funeral oration for Von Hindenburg, Tuesday, reassuring words as to the future of the third reich.

Withal, he will go through the motions of asking for popular approval. On August 19, the German people will go to the polls to put their stamp of approbation on the Cabinet's action in setting aside the law which provides for an interim president.

Besides being asked to approve the combining of the presidency with the chancellorship, the voters also are expected to be asked to pass on Hitler's policies in general. This concentration of powers gives the forty-five-year-old former enlisted man authority which no Wilhelm or Bismarck held.

News of Von Hindenburg's death found the Chancellor somewhat haggard of countenance, padding back and forth in his long study. He was waiting to succeed a man as old as he, and at that hour he wanted to be alone. He pushed aside such intimates as

STEAMER ASHORE

The steamer Tashmoo, en route to Detroit with 250 excursionists aboard, was driven ashore on the Canadian side of the St. Clair River, near Algonac. Both paddle wheels of the vessel were smashed. Coastguards took off 150 of the passengers. The 100 remaining aboard were believed to be in no danger, as the storm had subsided. The steamer Put-In-Bay was dispatched from Detroit to the stranded steamer.

DAMAGE IN OHIO

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2 (AP).—Lashed by a fifty-mile-an-hour gale and a blinding rainstorm, parts of Northern Ohio, along the lake shore, were isolated tonight, several hours after the storm subsided, leaving a trail of extensive damage.

Telegraph and telephone communication with Vermilion and Huron was cut off. Motorists reported many homes damaged in the two towns. Kelleys Island and Put-In-Bay were isolated by damaged cables.

SWEETS OVER ONTARIO

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP).—Three lives and extensive property damage were taken by a storm that swept across Western and Central Ontario tonight.

A heavy downpour of rain was welcomed by farmers in areas where extreme drought had damaged crops and promised poor returns.

The victims of the storm were Mrs. O. W. Pickard, her eleven-year-old daughter, Lucille, and a six-year-old son, Jerry. They are Detroit residents and went to their deaths in Lake Erie when the storm washed the waters, the waves upsetting their small boat. Their bodies have not been recovered.

more efficiently and economically than it could as a separate entity.

5. The area served by the road is a great potential source of timber and pulpwood, capable of supporting large pulp and paper industries in perpetuity.

6. It would be in accord with equity and common justice, in the public interest, if the Pacific Great Eastern were taken over by the Dominion as the Grand Trunk Pacific was.

BASIS OF ARGUMENT

A basis of the British Columbia argument was that the Pacific Great Eastern had an agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific calling for the routing of all freight and passengers for Vancouver from the East, over its lines. This would apply to freight and passengers not specifically routed. Largely on the strength of this clause, Pacific Great Eastern promoters obtained a provincial guarantee of $35,000 a mile.

When the Grand Trunk Pacific went into the Canadian National system, the Pacific Great Eastern was left high and dry, the British Columbia Premier argued. The agreement was not observed by the Canadian National Railway, which opened its own outlet to Vancouver.

"The Government of Canada has taken over the Grand Trunk Pacific, the road upon which

Twelve Days That Wrecked a World

This is the twelfth of a series of twelve day-by-day accounts of the beginning of the World War, twenty years ago, by Colonel Frederick Palmer, war correspondent and author.

(By COLONEL FREDERICK PALMER) (Copyright, 1934, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) The Continent might have gone mad, but the long-headed British would not enter the war until they were certain it was their war. It was as though they had a day of public thought assigned in which to make their decision. Even though the great European armies had not been moving toward the frontiers, business would have been suspended in Britain on Monday, August 3, 1914. It was the midsummer bank holiday, prolonging the week-end when everybody gave up all business and political cares and sought escape from the hot pavements to the country. On this Monday city people remained in town and country people went to the village. They had awakened still proud of their British phlegm, still determined not to allow it to be disturbed by neighboring chaos. In their morning papers they read Germany's ultimatum to Belgium: that she would march through Belgium by force if Belgium resisted. "BRAVE BELGIAN KING"

Oscend was in Belgium on the English Channel, and beyond it, Calais, still nearer to the English shore. British steps turned away from gardens and cricket fields and dips in the sea toward news sources. A new hero appeared on the stage that morning, tall Albert of Belgium, his audience the whole world. Belgium would resist. Brave Belgian king!

Men looked into each other's faces and began to realize that he was fighting Britain's battle, as defender of their channel. Now what would the British Cabinet do? Would Germany back down from her threat? The groups around the telegraph offices became crowds. British hesitancy was beginning to take direction.

seas which gave her power and her daily bread. TIME HAD COME The British clerk and laborer, and the shipmaster and manufacturer, who had felt German competition and watched the rise of her power in industry and at sea, foresaw that victorious Germany would turn on Britain after despatching France. With Britain closing the seas to her, and on France's side, her defeat would be inevitable and the war shortened. Now was the time to stop her.

And from Canada and Australia and overseas to the ends of the earth came the throbs of support of a decision which was the very instinct of the British peoples. The British Empire was practically in the war, the fifth of the avian lances loosed, the European war had become a world war, with the all but unanimous outburst of approval from the benches when Grey finished his speech.

For Germany could not now stop the march of her legions already forming on the Belgian threshold. Her generals had the ball. Their plans had been made with Belgium as their pathway and could not now be changed. Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg's final interview with the British Ambassador but confirmed

LUNCHEON IS BIG SUCCESS

City to Send Invitations to Admiralty Immediately for 1935 Navy Week

So successful has been Victoria's first Navy Week celebration that invitations will be sent immediately to the British Admiralty to send ships of the America and West Indies Station to Victoria next year, while invitations also will be sent to the Department of National Defence at Ottawa to send H.M.C.S. Saguenay and H.M.C.S. Champlain from Halifax to Victoria at the same time.

These plans were revealed at the civic luncheon held for officers of H.M.S. Norfolk and H.M.S. Danes yesterday when Mayor David Leeming, in reply to an address made by Vice-Admiral Sir R. A. R. Plunkett-Erle-Drax.

ISSUES INVITATION The Mayor issued to the officers present a cordial invitation to return next year, and expressed the hope that three of the West Indies fleet would be in port at the same time as H.M.C.S. Skeena, H.M.C.S. Vancouver and H.M.C.S. Arcturion.

With the West Coast navy ships, two from the East Coast Canadian Naval base, and three West Indies ships, Victoria would be host to eight British warships next year. Plans will be forwarded right away so that the second annual Navy Week will be even more successful than the first, which incidentally was conceived by Alderman P. R. Brown, who was made chairman of the Navy Week committee, as a consequence of his interest in the matter.

The Vice-Admiral in a brief address expressed the deep appreciation of himself and his officers for the manner in which they had been so kindly treated and entertained during their visit to Victoria. "We feel that you have spared no effort in making our all-too-short visit one of the most enjoyable in our memories. We are extremely pleased with this idea of Navy Week and sincerely hope it flourishes."

URGES MAINTENANCE The admiral spoke of a conference he once had in the East with respect to naval matters, when he was asked by a Canadian whether the admiral did not think that such a navy as Canada possessed might just as well be abolished due to the small number of ships to protect so vast a coast line.

The admiral's reply was that in no sense should the navy be eliminated. It was a basis of what the navy would be in the future. Its efficiency was of the highest, and although lacking in numerical strength, so far as ships were concerned, formed an integral part of the country's defence, and formed the nucleus of a probably a far greater fleet in years to come. His address was greeted with quite audible murmurs of approval.

"This is the first attempt in Canada to establish Navy Week as an annual event," Mayor Leeming stated in his opening remarks, "and we sincerely hope that it will succeed in its purpose, that of making Canada navy conscious. We used to have five battleships stationed here in days gone by, and while we cannot hope for anything like that just now, we do feel that Victoria should pay tribute to this great national service and do our utmost to foster the greatest sense of pride in the Royal Canadian Navy," the Mayor concluded.

AT HEAD TABLE Those at the head table included: Vice-Admiral Sir R. E. Drax, commander of the Bermuda squadron; Capt. H. E. C. Blagrove, Flag-Lieut. Hon. A. Pleydell-Bouverie, Commander A. J. W. Wallis, Major-General E. C. Adam, Commander G. C. Jones, Mayor David Leeming, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. A. Wells Gray, acting Premier, Hon. G. A. Bucklin, United States Consul, and D. B. Plunkett, M.P.

Among those in attendance were: Aldermen J. D. Hunter, Walter Luncey, Andrew McDevlin, John Worthington, P. R. Brown, James Adam, T. W. C. Hawkins and Alex. Peden. John Baxter, H. S. No one for spelling at a loss is who boldly writes rhinoceroses; I've known a few (I can't say lots) who call the heads rhinoceroses. Though they are not so bad (O ne!) As those who say rhinoceri. One I have heard (O Holy Moses!) Who plainly said rhinoceroses, while possibly a fourth-form boy might venture on rhinoceros. The moral that I draw from these is: The plural is just what one pleases.

BELGIUM'S BRAVE DEFENDER King Albert of the Belgians, Who Decided on Resistance When News Came That German Troops Were Swarming Through Luxembourg Toward the Belgian Frontier

Once more, in the most momentous session this British Cabinet ever had held, or any had, time out of mind, the two factions faced each other. They had before them the Belgian King's decision and appeal to Britain. The florid, impetuous Churchill already had ordered naval mobilization. Prime Minister Asquith had said he would resign if England hesitated after the invasion of Belgium. He had already had summoned a meeting of the Army Council of War and ordered army mobilization.

GREY DETERMINED The peace-loving Sir Edward Grey, weighed with responsibility and the fatigue of his efforts at mediation, had set his spare and bony face in warrior mould. He proposed a dispatch to Germany, declaring invasion of Belgium would bring Britain into the war and that Belgium should be told about it. Thus he simplified the conclusion of his fortnight's parleys.

Then all looked toward Lloyd George, leader of the pacifist faction, who had so often denounced war in impassioned eloquence. Lloyd George, "the Limehouse," loathed by all Conservatives as the demagogic, shifty apostle of radicalism and the enemy of property and ancient traditions. On his side were the scholarly Morley, Gladstonian of the old school, and that veteran Labor leader, John Burns, up from the slums in the school of hard knocks to power in Parliament.

The Belgian crisis put a different complexion on the situation for Lloyd George. He would support Grey, Morley and Burns, who would not compromise with their hatred of war as war, kept the faith of their convictions by resigning from the Cabinet.

THE KING WAITS Another listener to the news was in Buckingham Palace. He had not been in the war councils where Asquith, Lloyd George and Burns sat. He was not so much a factor in shaping his nation's decisions as members of the crowd around a country telegraph office. Britain remained in this crisis very much of a constitutional monarchy. The King waited with the people to learn the decision of the Cabinet and then of the House of Commons.

There was no basis for forecasts in an unprecedented situation. Those who dared prophesies were to have them confounded. All were sure that the war would be short; the Germans that they would soon be in Paris; the Allies that the odds, with Britain in, were wholly in their favor. The war must be short because no nation could finance the gigantic costs for long, and if it could, the slaughter with modern arms would be so enormous that a halt would be called to international suicide.

(This ends the series of articles which gave a complete review of the twelve days that wrecked the world.)

JOURNALIST ENDS NOTABLE CAREER

Thomas H. Blacklock, Well-Known Political Writer, Dies After Short Illness

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (CP).—A sense of deep personal loss permeated Canadian newspaper offices today with the announcement of the death, at the age of sixty-one, of Thomas H. Blacklock, a political writer known from one end of Canada to the other. Mr. Blacklock, who had been in failing health for some time, was taken last night to the Ottawa Civic Hospital. He died at 12:20 p.m. today.

A keen observer of statesmen and politics, a pungent commentator, and a collier of sparkling epigrams, Tom Blacklock was a correspondent of the old school. Firmly and aggressively Conservative, he was, nevertheless, blessed with a sense of proportion which enabled him to uncover virtues in his opponents.

Above and beyond his knowledge of politics, Tom Blacklock knew Canada. He was born at Campbellville, Halton County, Ontario, in 1873. His parents were farmers, descendants of old Scottish stock, a circumstance of which he was inordinately proud. He began his newspaper career on The Guelph Mercury.

Proceeding to Western Canada, Mr. Blacklock settled at Weyburn, in Saskatchewan, where he conducted a weekly newspaper. He was the first mayor of that town. Later he resided for some time in Regina, where he became editor of The Regina Province.

Mr. Blacklock returned to East-

Data and Dates Of Victoria and Vancouver Island

VICTORIA is the first and last Canadian port of call on the Pacific Coast for all vessels entering or leaving the Pacific Northwest, and is Canada's western ocean gateway to California, China, the Straits Settlements and India, to which liners up to a tonnage of 20,000 ply regularly.

Our harbours are capable of berthing the largest ships. Victoria was the only port at which H.M.S. Hood, one of the largest warships of the world, and H.M.S. Repulse, of 36,500 tons, were able to berth at the same time during their round-the-world voyage in 1924.

At the entrance to the Inner Harbor are the Rithet Docks, built in 1890, and still used by the majority of ocean-going steamers that call here. Near Rithet Docks stand the stone piers of Ogden Point Wharves, built by the Dominion Government in 1913-1917 at a cost of $6,000,000.

Preliminary Business Is Completed at Convention

Committees Appointed by Kinsmen at Empress Hotel Sessions—National President's Address Presented by Dr. Arthur Poyntz

Preliminary work in connection with their convention now in session at the Empress Hotel, here, was carried out by the National Association of Kinsmen Clubs, yesterday morning. Committees were appointed, reports from national officers and district governors were received and confirmation of the election of 1934-35 district governors was made.

J. Edwin Sanders, Victoria; Monty Medlen, Ottawa, and Thomas Barton, Saskatoon, were appointed credentials committee. Fred Galbraith, Vernon, Jack May, North Battleford, and William Kirkwood were selected the rules committee. Stewart Davison, Chilliwack; Gordon McGachie, Calgary; E. P. Johnson, Brandon; Sidney Law, Toronto, and Howard Purdy, Regina, were named the resolutions committee. Herbert Sabiston, Victoria, was elected sergeant-at-arms for the convence.

W. SEEMER BETTS

First honorary member of the Saskatchewan Kinsmen Club and director of that club's nationally known male chorus, is attending the association convention here in the Empress Hotel. Mr. Betts conducted singing at the opening of the sessions, yesterday.

Archie W. Smith, District 4 official include R. E. Jones, G. M. Spargo and W. V. Wilkin, while District 5 executive has on its roster Clayton Hallman, Harvie H. De Long and D'Arcy Baldwin. Mayor David Leeming and host club president, Dr. B. C. Nickells, extended official welcome to the visiting Kinsmen on behalf of the city and the local club, respectively. Rev. T. R. Lancaster gave the invocation as the first act of the convention.

REPORTS PRESENTED

The only national enterprise conducted by the Kinsmen during the year was a coast-to-coast essay contest, it was revealed when National President Dr. Arthur Poyntz, Victoria, presented his annual report. The competition was on the subject, "The Growth of Canadian Autonomy," and was won by William Prossesky, a student of Sitka College Institute, in Saskatoon.

Four clubs had secured charters during the year, those being Belleville, Cobourg, St. John and Nelson. President Poyntz gave credit for the formation of the first three clubs to Governor of District No. 1, Gordon Harbison, and the clubs of Kingston, Oshawa and Monckton, respectively. Governor Fred Galbraith and members of the Vernon Club were responsible for the formation of the Nelson Club.

URGES SERVICE

In concluding his lengthy report, Dr. Poyntz urged the members to "live up to the ideals of our association and be of service to individuals, our respective communities and our country."

National Secretary Archie W. Smith presented his report outlining all activities carried out by the national executive during the year. Cecil W. Luckhart, national treasurer, reported the association in strong financial shape. Other resumes of the year's work were offered by J. Edwin Sanders, national registrar, and Ernest Dyson, national historian. P. J. Mulcahy presented an account of his term as editor of the association magazine, "Kin."

District governors' reports were submitted by Gordon Harbison, Al Hulme, Harold Timmins and Fred Galbraith.

The "Cure Cure" is being applied to the politically discontented in Germany. A man residing in a village near Mainz, who declared, "Things will never be better," has been sentenced by the court to visit the local council offices daily for three weeks there to declare, "Everything, in every way, is getting better, and better."

TRYING TO FIX VANISHING ISLE

Scientists Tackling Enigma of Puzzling Peak of Bering Sea

SEATTLE, Aug. 2 (AP).—The enigmas of Bogoslof, "disappearing" volcanic island feared by mariners in the Bering Sea, were being tackled today by scientists in the hope of learning why it supposedly vanishes, moves about or changes shape.

This peculiar peak has been charted, but seafaring men sometimes tell strange tales about it. Occasionally mariners have reported no island at all at the spot designated on the map. At other times it has been reported in other locations. Still others have said it is in the spot indicated, but that it changes its shape.

One explanation of Bogoslof's disappearances given by the sailors is that the dense fogs of that region make the black island invisible, so if one ship reports its disappearance, another is likely to sight it a short time later.

Another is, since the island is composed largely of volcanic ash, it is easy for the terrific gales of the Bering Sea, "The Cradle of Storms," to wash away large portions of it.

DECLARES NEED FOR SINGLE TAX

John L. Munroe, of Chicago, Tells Rotary Club Present Levy System Penalizes Production

"Industrial depression and unemployment are the inevitable consequences of our system, which penalizes production and encourages land speculation. Land speculation makes industrial, residential and farm land artificially high in price, with the result that natural opportunities for business and employment are withdrawn from the use of people. Our policy of taxation fosters land speculation by taxing vacant land less than improved sites."

With such pronouncements, John Lawrence Munroe, director of the Henry George Lecture Association of Chicago, delivered an address to the Rotary Club at luncheon, yesterday, in the Empress Hotel. His subject was "Taxation and Our Economic Crisis."

"No power on earth is used so ruthlessly as that of taxation, which has been used to destroy people through the ages," declared Mr. Munroe.

The speaker, with many arguments, pointed out that if countries would tax land values exclusively, they would make land speculation unprofitable, and at once open to producers natural opportunities and leave to production its full reward. Continuing, he said the value of the land is created by the community, belongs to the community, and should be collected for the benefit of the community in lieu of all other taxes.

SINGLE TAX

This proposal to abolish all taxation, save that on land values, the single tax, was first given prominence by the United States economist, Henry George. In his book, "Progress and Poverty," written in 1879, Mr. Munroe explained.

The single tax, the speaker declared, offers a double-headed programme for ending unemployment and setting the wheels of industry in perpetual motion. First, it would do away with all taxes which now repress industry and agriculture. Second, by taxing the value of the land and loosening the grip of the land hoarders, it would make land more easily available for industry, home ownership and farming.

Mr. Munroe also criticized the sales tax, saying it was "the tool of tyrants," and should never be tolerated by a free people. He claimed the sales tax raises prices and adds to the cost of living; it discriminates against the poor in favor of the rich.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

SAFETY
SPEED
SERVICE

During 1933, of 9,434,812 passengers carried, not a single life was lost on the Canadian National Railways trains through collision, derailment, or failure of equipment.

There is No Substitute for Safety ..... at Any Price.

It is easy to take for granted the safety of railway travel—easy, amid the excitement and pleasure of a holiday trip or in the commonplace run to and from business, to be oblivious to all the care and labour which go to make railway journeys the safest means of transportation in the world. Yet it should receive more than a passing thought, for it represents what is perhaps the greatest achievement of railroading.

To ensure the maximum of safety the highest demands are made on personnel and material. All operating employees must be in perfect physical condition and strict medical examinations are regularly made. They must further be skilled in their various occupations. In many passenger train crews will be found men who have spent more than twenty years in faithful service and have thereby acquired knowledge, resource, and dependability. The lessons which experience has taught are embodied in rules with which each operating employee is familiar, and in regard to which implicit obedience is imperative.

Behind all this, however, is a more important factor—the railwaymen themselves. No system, however carefully thought out, can be better than the men whose duty it is to administer it. Because of this, Canadian National employees are pledged, as their first consideration in all circumstances, to the strict observance of all rules and the prompt and faithful performance of all actions which make for safety of life and property.

This safety of railway travel is, therefore, no casual matter. It is the result of the adoption of the most rigorous standards and the application at all seasons and times of one principle—that nothing will be tolerated in railway operation which is not safe . . . no shortcuts . . . no experiments . . . no substitutes.

At this season of the year when travel in all its forms is at its peak and highways are crowded, this matter of safety is of unusual importance. It should receive the serious consideration of the traveller, whether for long or short distances. Such consideration will show another and powerful reason for travelling by the C. N. R.

KINSMEN GIVEN SOUND ADVICE

Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir Extends Provincial Welcome to Visiting Club Men

Urging Kinsmen to become thoroughly national before attempting internationalism and humanitarianism, Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, yesterday extended an official Government welcome to delegates attending the thirteenth annual convention of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada, now in session at the Empress Hotel. Dr. Weir was speaking at a luncheon.

The speaker referred to early Canadian history, pointing out that the French and English in Quebec had tried unity and separation, and finally agreed on compromise. "We are still compromising," Dr. Weir said.

"The B.N.A. Act was a wonderful instrument, but we are trying to do our business on the basis of the old act. We have problems to-day that the Fathers of Confederation, giants of intellect that they were, did not think of," the speaker averred.

NATIONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Dr. Weir spoke briefly on the health condition of Canada and British Columbia, and maintained that this should be national and not provincial in its scope. "During the depression years, British Columbia has become a convalescent hospital for the rest of Canada. We are glad to be of service, but it is undoubtedly a national responsibility."

He also gave a brief resume of educational costs throughout the Dominion.

Chilliwack Club was awarded the Founder's Trophy for sustained membership and attendance, donated by H. A. Rogers, while the Club won the Editor's Trophy. Presentations were made at the luncheon.

Other members of the council said the Federal Government was responsible for relief and should, therefore, shoulder the burden.

Reeve Mayhew to Confer With Civic Heads on Federal Programme

Opposition to the new proposed method of relief, whereby the Federal Government will substitute its present scheme of one-third costs with the payment to provinces of a lump sum monthly, was voiced by the Oak Bay Municipal Council, yesterday. Reeve R. W. Mayhew was empowered to call a conference of the surrounding municipalities to discuss the proposed scheme and, if agreeable, dispatch a letter to Premier T. D. Pattullo, opposing the proposed programme.

Reeve Mayhew, in discussing the proposed relief scheme, said he was strongly in favor of retaining the existing system of direct relief. He maintained it was not fair to the rest of the Dominion to change the system which is working favorably in order to eradicate certain abuses in the East.

Peculiar Stars Will Be Studied

One of the most interesting astronomical series now being given in the summer of 1934 is astronomy under the auspices of the Victoria Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, which will be that of "Peculiar Stars," which Mrs. (Dr.) Helen S. Hogg will deliver on Monday next at 8:30 p.m. These meetings are held in the laboratory at the Victoria College, and at the conclusion of the informal talks, practical observational work is conducted, with Robert Peters in charge of the same.

Minister at Work — Hon. K. C. MacDonald was back at his desk yesterday, having mastered an infected foot that for a time had promised trouble.

Chamber Applications — Mr. Justice Fisher heard a number of vacation applications in Supreme Court Chambers yesterday, mostly in respect to probates or otherwise in settlement of estates.

Licence Renewed — Renewal of its licence, permitting operation of its passenger buses in Oak Bay for the forthcoming six months, was granted to the Blue Line Bus Company by the Oak Bay Municipal Council, yesterday.

Opium Hearing Remanded — Charged on remand in City Police Court yesterday with illegal possession of opium, Wong Ko was further remanded for one week at the request of his counsel, W. C. Morris, by K.C.

Install Gas Heater — Equilibrium School Board has decided to install a modern gas-fired heating plant in Lamson Street School. The matter has been under discussion for some time, the old plant having been declared obsolete three months ago.

Hours for Barbers — The Hours of Work Act will apply to the occupation of barbering, the Province ruled yesterday, under authority of the British Columbia Industrial Relations Board. Barbering is added to the schedule under the law, providing for a limit of eight hours a day and forty-eight hours per week.

Without Advice — Acting Premier A. W. Gray and three other members of the Cabinet in Victoria yesterday, were awaiting word of the course of relief negotiations at Ottawa between Federal and Provincial Governments. Up to 7 p.m. Eastern time, no advice had been received, Mr. Gray stated.

Earth Tremor — F. Napier Denison, director of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, announced yesterday that his seismograph had still recorded an earthquake of moderate intensity at 11:15:40 p.m. Wednesday. Its distance was placed at 1,310 miles, and probably in the Alaska Peninsula.

Oak Bay Delegates — Reeve R. W. Mayhew, Councilor Richard Angus and R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, were appointed by Oak Bay Municipal Council, yesterday, as delegates to the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, which will be held at Kamloops on October 3.

Wool Needed — The Women's Workroom is appealing for unused sheep's skins in this regard, surrender of the revenues of customs and excise, on which British Columbia itself had depended for 65 per cent of administrative costs; and Provincial compliance with these conditions which would best bring about a trans-continental railway, in the case of this Province this being surrender of a belt of land forty miles wide across the Province, to which subsequently 3,500,000 additional acres were added. In the merging of its debts with those of the Dominion, British Columbia was in a favored position, with very little debt, and this much lower per capita than the average for the country as a whole. It received an annual debt allowance, being equivalent to 5 per cent interest on its relative difference of debt in an equalizing scheme. It is contended that, in comparison with other provinces, British Columbia has received very much the short end of the bargain in this respect.

SURRENDERED CASH INCOME

In the surrender of its customs and excise rights, which brought in 65 per cent of total British Columbia revenues of $530,474 in 1929, this Province gave up its chief source of revenue for public purposes. The per capita revenues in Canada under the same heads at the time were $2.75, while in British Columbia, the per capita returns were more than three times as high. British Columbia claimed that subsidies in lieu of tariff rights should be based on a population three times larger than actual, to make up this difference, or as for 20,000 persons. The subsidies, however, were arbitrarily based on 60,000 persons, amounting to $114,000.

Map Is Guide — British Columbia same regulations for 1934 are available now in printed form. This year the regulations are printed on the back of a sketch map of British Columbia, showing Eastern and Western game areas, and provincial ridings. Much useful data is added in an attractive sheet, which can be folded to pocket size. "Prevent Forest Fires," the slogan of the Forestry Branch, is added as a reminder to hunters to use care in the woods.

Territory Enlarged — A certificate of approval was granted by the Government this week to the Nanaimo Electric Light, Power & Heating Company, Ltd., enlarging the territory in which it may exercise its powers, to include the Oyster Land District, North Cowichan Municipality, Duncan City, and portions of Cowichan and Quamichan Land Districts. Under original rights the company could operate in Nanaimo City and within a fifteen-mile radius.

Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

Delegates Guests at Functions

Although the first day of any convention is bound to entail a certain amount of hard work for all concerned, the visiting Klamath did not neglect the social side of such a gathering, and several entertainments were offered for visiting delegates and their ladies yesterday.

Shortly after noon, luncheon was served in the Tudor grill of the Empress Hotel. Afternoon tea was served at the Crystal Garden for the ladies, many of whom took the opportunity of having a swim. Later, a police-escorted tour of the city was conducted, points of interest in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt being visited.

BRIDGE-DINNER
In the evening the ladies enjoyed a bridge-dinner in the blue room at the Beach Hotel, while a held forth at the Crystal Garden at a stag party and dinner.

At the latter event, many of the visiting clubs, including Chilliwack, Vancouver, Saskatoon, Calgary and Victoria, presented novelties. Pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Wilson's Russian Ballet School were present and gave a short revue. Stanley James, Fred Hunter, the "Old-Timers," Alfred Food, and others contributed turns. Dr. S. F. Miles and Fred Burns, Victoria, brought the house down with their interpretation of Mahatma Gandhi being interviewed.

Weddings

McDONALD-KENNEDY
A quiet wedding was solemnized, on Monday, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. E. F. Church, when he united in marriage Anne Eleanor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy, Admirals Road, Esquimalt, and Mr. Wilbur Hodgson McDonald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McDonald, Johnson Street. The bride looked charming in an ensemble of white crepe, finished at the throat and wrists with pink and white organdie plaid, and wore a large white hat and matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, mauve sweet peas and maiden hair fern. Little Beverly Clark and Betty Joan Elworthy, nieces of the groom, were attractive attendants. In matching frocks of mauve crepe de Chine and full skirts of satin ruffles, and a large bow of mauve tulle on their hair. Each carried a basket of pink carnations. Mrs. H. Elworthy attended the bride, and was dressed in an attractive ensemble of blue crepe, with white hat, and wore a large bow of mauve tulle on their hair. The wedding was the best man. The young couple will reside in Victoria.

Sincerity Important In All Art

"Look for something more fundamental than skill in adjusting the merit of a picture. Sincerity and straightforwardness of expression, the power of mental imagery of seeing with the mind's eye, is what counts," said Miss Marian Richardson, supervisor of art in the London County Council schools, in her second address before the Provincial Summer School for teachers at the Victoria High School, yesterday morning.

So powerful was the child's capacity for imagery that sometimes there was actual confusion between the real image and the imagined image—a confusion of two visions, she told her audience in attempting to advise teachers how to develop the right mental approach in the child. In drawing actual objects, the child should be trained to observe the object from a given distance, up to the age of six, about six feet being a good distance. For the young child the picture should have a frame. The classroom should be arranged as much like a studio as possible. Size was not so essential as quality. Water-color, as a medium, was too subtle and delicate for the child. The London County Council schools substituted dry colors for paints, and simple materials could be used for the drawing paper, such, for instance, as baker's wrapping paper. Buff sable brushes were recommended in preference to the too pliant camel's hair brush.

ILLUSTRATES QUALITIES
Drawing in mass, the speaker contended, was a "taught" and unnatural way. To the child, outline drawing was the natural expression. Picture sense, or sense of harmony and unity, mattered more than likeness or exact imitation.

In connection with her talk yesterday, Miss Richardson again gave a number of lantern slides that were most appropriately chosen as illustrating the qualities which should or should not be sought after in school art.

Miss Richardson's third and last lecture, on "Pattern Making, or Design, in Art," will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the High School.

Save the Pieces

A cool dress for town wear in late Summer is the crying need of many a wardrobe just now. You can have one which is smart and in the latest vogue by looking over your evening frocks and deciding just which one you are tired of wearing.

A plain black chiffon, or any dark solid colored crepe, is just the thing to make over with very little effort. First of all, cut off at least ten inches of the skirt and don't throw it away; make it into a little shoulder cape, as illustrated, giving the new street dress a decidedly town air.

Fill in the decolletage with a peach, flesh or ecoré net, making a yoke and short sleeves and a double collar in the front. When worn for tea or early dinner the frock looks like the inset at the lower left. When worn on the street it is shown in the full-length sketch, with its little cape and frilly net collar.

Some of the newest frocks for late Summer were shown by New York designers follow this idea. They are made of black chiffon, with peach and ecoré and sometimes white net or organdie yokes and collars. Some of them have long-fitted coats, which make the dress look like a coat dress on the avenue and a simple and sophisticated dinner dress in the restaurant with coat off. And they are cool.

Of course you could do the same thing with a pastel formal, but it wouldn't be quite as practical for street wear as the dark crepe.

The Laughing Girl Mystery

By Viola Paradise

SYNOPSIS
An Sheridan Dinard is hurrying up the stairs to the New York studio apartment of Adelaide Barry, his fiancée, to take her to a dinner party, the young archaeologist hears a shrill peal of laughter just as he notices a door knocker which seems to be an exact duplicate of an Egyptian statuette brought the day before by Dr. Willard Coe to the private museum of which he is the head. A second peal of laughter is cut short as Sheridan remarks to Coe, who is going to the same dinner party and has his taxi, that when Adelaide mentions Sheridan's description of the beautiful blonde, Sheridan laughs and says it is easy for an archaeologist to reconstruct a girl from her laugh. When they return, waiting policemen take them to the Coe's apartment where he heard the laughter. A beautiful girl, a blonde with lavender eyes and a short upper lip, lies murdered on the floor. Inspector Higgins learns that Mr. and Mrs. Coe went to their country place. He calls them back and bullies everybody until the arrival of Assistant District Attorney Adams and Joe Harrod, his investigator. All are fingerprinted and questioned, and just before daylight Alby tells them he wants them at his office at 2:30. Sheridan is surprised when Adelaide suddenly asks him when they are alone, "Who is the girl?" On Sheridan's face there is a brief knock him unconscious and shoots, but misses him.

Sheridan read the account in fury. Though carefully worded, with an eye to libel laws, it featured him all through, and the implications were clear and ugly.

Perhaps it was his sore chin which made him think first of the beggar who had attacked him. Funny that he should have thought of Mr. Coe's moment he regained consciousness. And why had he asked if the man limped? The man had just appeared. Sheridan had not seen him take a step. "It was probably because he had been thinking of the unattractive old couple at the moment of the attack. Even supposing—and that in itself was absurd—Coe had wished to harm him, he could hardly have got away from Twelfth Street with a policeman in the house. Besides, the hairy flat eliminated Coe's."

He didn't like the Cogges. Something told-like about them both. Funny people, though. She with her obsession about the stained rug, and he with his "shut up, mama," in varying tones of petulance. Yet once—when was it? Oh, yes, about the long telephone wire—he had spoken rather tenderly to her. That door knocker. It couldn't have been the little statuette. And what was it Marlin had said to Higgins over the telephone? Some funny business about a cabinet.

He had forgotten all about Marlin. He must hurry up to the museum. Marlin would surely be back. Strange, Marlin's outburst of temper. Of course being roused in the middle of the night. . . .

Perhaps he ought to get in touch with Dr. Coe. Perhaps Dr. Coe should be there when Alby arrived. Sheridan looked at his watch. Only eight. Too early. Dr. Coe slept late Sundays. And he had been unusually tired yesterday when Sheridan had gone with him to the station. They had discussed the details of the coming expedition until five minutes before train time. No, he would let Dr. Coe sleep until after he had seen Alby. . . . Dr. Coe would be disturbed about that copy of the statuette.

Sheridan's mind hopped back to the conversation with Wilcox in the taxi. Wilcox was something of a practical joker. It would have been possible for Wilcox to get the door knocker—(Good heavens, here he was himself referring to the statuette as a door knocker!)—It was within the realm of possibility that Wilcox, for a joke, might have taken the little figure, drilled some hole in the door, stuck the figure into it, leaving it there till Sheridan had gone upstairs, and then ducked back into the hall and taken it away. No, too fantastic. Besides, Wilcox didn't like him well enough to play a practical joke on him. Usually Wilcox avoided him, except in their official capacities. Not that there was enmity between them. Something much milder; but definite enough to make it strange for Wilcox to have got into his taxi last night. Moreover, Wilcox would never have taken the statuette from his desk. Wilcox, though something of a playboy in private life, took his work seriously. His getting into the taxi doubtless had some simple explanation.

And the attack on himself last night, was that, too, unconnected

Today not Marlin, but a policeman opened the door. "You Dinard?" he demanded. "O.K. They're waiting for you."

In his office Sheridan found Alby and Harrod and Inspector Higgins and a new fingerprint man named Jenker. Higgins scowled suspiciously at him. Harrod grunted non-committally, but Alby said good morning in a gravelly courteous tone.

"I didn't expect you until ten," Sheridan concealed his annoyance with difficulty.

"We've been making rather free with your museum," said Alby. "Of course you see the necessity of that."

"I wish you had waited for Dr. Coe's return."

"Just when will that be?"

"He usually comes in on the nine o'clock train Sunday night."

"But you're not sure of him tonight," Alby asserted rather than asked.

Sheridan studied Alby's face. He had liked him from the start. True, this morning he had been angry at the discovery that he was being watched. But now he realized that such surveillance must be a routine matter. He himself, in Alby's place, would have let no one even remotely concerned, out of sight.

"Well?" Alby prompted him.

"I don't know." And Sheridan told of his conversation with Murdoch, and how he had himself taken Dr. Coe to the station.

"Is this a murder?" growled Higgins, "of a series of disappearing acts? A girl gets rubbed out down on Twelfth Street and the caretaker and the head of a museum on Stuyvesant Street suddenly vanish?"

Sheridan ignored Higgins. "You don't think anything could have happened to Dr. Coe?" he inquired in some alarm of Alby.

Alby shrugged. "Did he seem distraught or unlike his usual self yesterday?"

Sheridan's brow furrowed. "A little worried. But not more than usual of late. The last weeks before an expedition starts are trying, and this time especially, as I shan't be here to attend to certain of the last minute details. Perhaps."

A sudden thought struck him. "If you'll just wait, I'll go upstairs. He might possibly have come back ill."

"No one is upstairs, Mr. Dinard. We've gone through the house. Still, it might be a good plan to repeat the excursion with you. You'll be able to throw light on several matters. Come along, Harrod."

Harrod, pencil and notebook in hand, followed them, saying nothing, but taking down every word. Sheridan led the way out of his office into Dr. Coe's and Wilcox's, and then through a large exhibition room, the walls of which were lined with display cabinets. Suddenly he stopped.

The door of one cabinet stood slightly ajar. A jeweled Florentine dagger which should have hung against the velvet backing of the top shelf was gone.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

WHY ARE THEY CALLED "PANAMA" HATS?

Nothing, it is always being said, is what it used to be. And of very few things perhaps is this as true as of Panama hats, so-called, some of which once sold at one thousand dollars apiece.

Inca Indians, especially skilled in the art took as long as half a year and more to weave a Panama hat by hand. A far cry, indeed, from our quite recent "new era" mass production!

The best of the headgear commonly known as Panama hats came from Ecuador; while those not so superior came from Peru and Columbia, with the difference between the grades quite distinguishable.

They became known as "Panama" hats because the trading area in which was concentrated the purchase and sale transactions centred in Panama!

GALAXY OF TENNIS STARS TO SEEK B.C. HONORS

BRILLIANT ARRAY OF NET PLAYERS BOOKED FOR LOCAL TOURNEY

Ranking Exponents From San Francisco, Los Angeles, Berkeley, Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria Entered in Meet at Willows Next Week—Two From Philadelphia—Titles Left Open

Tennis racquets which have remained true to their owners during a string of major championship tournaments will flash over the courts of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club at the Willows, all next week, starting bright and early on Monday, when one of the greatest galaxies of ranking stars from all parts of the Pacific Coast will step into action in the forty-third annual British Columbia grass court championships. During the provincial scramble, the Pacific Northwest senior sectionals will be run off concurrently, which means that some of the finest tennis in recent years will be displayed for the local public at the Willows.

Hugo Raymond, chairman of the tournament committee, who has just returned from Vancouver, where he took in the Western Canadian and British Columbia clay court tournaments, brought with him an official list of entrants from all parts of the Coast, including as far south as Los Angeles and as far east as Philadelphia. Vancouver will send over a formidable array of talent, including Caroline Deacon, recent winner of the Canadian women's singles crown, and Eleanor Young, runner-up in the same event at Toronto. Another seeded star will be Orla Ryll, a member of the Canadian Davis Cup team, and one of the Dominion's best.

SABIN COMING
Most of the American competitors have played before Victorians before, but some will be making their initial debut, and their exploits on the courts will be carefully watched. Wayne Sabin, brilliant young stylist from Portland, will be a big threat while Bob Harman, San Francisco, will be among the seeded. The Masie brothers, from Berkeley, and Bob Underwood, Los Angeles, will be right in the thick of it, while Henry Rosenberg and the sensational Mel Dranga, Seattle's consistent tournament winner, are other top favorites. Vancouver's delegation, as said before, will be headed by Orla Ryll, but Jack Brown, Colin Milne, Ron Sidaway and Doug Cameron will be over for a try at the title. Victoria is fortunate in having Rose "Bud" Hocking, British Columbia's ranking star, and a host of others to depend upon. Hocking will most likely be the local standard bearer.

The women's field will be another international conflict, with the Canadian title-holder, Caroline Deacon, and her adversary in the final, Eleanor Young, leading the parade. Victoria will have Jean Campbell, Mildred Phillips, Mrs. R. B. Wilson and many others trying, while the United States hopes depend upon the shoulders of such stars as Miss Gussie Raegener, Mrs. Golda Meyer, Miss K. Northote and Mrs. M. Laird.

RANKING PLAYERS
Outstanding players entered to date follow: Bob Harman, San Francisco; Harper Masie, Stan Masie, Dan Roberts, Tale Coulthard and Prentice Selby, Berkeley, California; Bob Underwood, Los Angeles; Henry Rosenberg, Joe Livingston and Mel Dranga, Seattle; Wayne Sabin, Portland; J. R. Kinney, San Francisco; L. A. Brown and W. M. Fletcher, Philadelphia; Jack Brown, Colin Milne, Ron Sidaway, Doug Cameron, Dunc Williams and Colin Gamber, Vancouver; Ross Hocking, Marah Gordon, Reg Corfield, Hugo Raymond, E. E. McCallum, A. C. Brand, Lionel Backler, Jack Farrell and Doug Peden, Victoria. Those in the women's singles include: Mrs. M. Laird, Glendale, California; Miss K. Northote, Los Angeles; Mrs. G. M. Gross, Miss Gussie Raegener and Miss M. Connell, Berkeley, California; Caroline Deacon, Eleanor Young, Vase O'Brien and Sue Milne, Vancouver; Miss B. Featherstone, Mrs. H. N. Lay and Miss P. Horne, Victoria. Seeded teams in the men's doubles follow: Rosenberg and Underwood; Dranga and Sabin; Harman and Roberts; Williams and Gamber; Brown and Fletcher; Coulthard and H. Masie; Gordon and McCallum; Brown and Milne; Hocking and Corfield. In the women's doubles there are the following combinations facing the starter: Misses Deacon and Young; Mrs. Laird and Miss Northote; Mrs. Gross and Miss Milne; Misses Raegener and Connell; Mrs. Wilson and Miss J. Campbell. Some powerful teams will pair.

Clay Court Meet Called Off When Rain Interferes

VANCOUVER, Aug. 2 (CP).—Tournament officials tonight called off the 1934 British Columbia clay court tennis championships, when rain halted play for the third successive day. A number of the players who took part in the opening day's play, including a score of United States Pacific Coast stars, have entered for the British Columbia grass courts title hunt at Victoria next week, and a number of the championships at Duncan, the following week.

up in the mixed doubles, with the following seeded: Williams and Miss Northote; Rosenberg and Mrs. M. Laird; Kinney and Miss Raegener; Roberts and Miss Connell; Liven-good and Mrs. Gross; Corfield and Mrs. Wilson; Hocking and Miss Deacon.

TITLES LEFT OPEN
Both the singles championships will be left open for competition as John Murio, San Francisco star, and Miss Mary Campbell, Victoria, will not be on hand to defend their crowns. Miss Campbell is out of the city at present, while Murio was up in the Northwest, but left for home. All the rest of the titles are also inviting new title-holders, which is a plain indication that the competition will be sharper than ever before. Play will be continuous all week, with the new champions ascending their thrones, Saturday afternoon.

DOCKERS WILL PLAY NORFOLK

Coast Football Champions to Meet British Navy Eleven Tomorrow Afternoon

Strengthened by the inclusion of Bruce Robinson, smart R.C.N. player, Esquimalt, local Coast League soccer champions, will battle the first string eleven of H.M.S. Norfolk tomorrow afternoon at Bullen's Park, at 2:30 o'clock. The match promises to be the toughest assignment facing the visiting British sailors on their visit to this port and should be keenly fought all the way.

In their last fixture, the Dockers took H.M.S. Dana's eleven into camp by a 3-2 score, and tomorrow the boys will be out to turn back H.M.S. Norfolk's team.

The Esquimalt line-up, announced last night by Manager Bromley, follows: DeCosta, Joe Watt, Bruce Robinson, Sweeney, Hay, Barnwell, Pepin, "Scotty" Stewart, John Watt, Wasland and Duke Warder, Reserve, V. Hicks.

SWIM STARS TO COMPETE
Strong Contingent to Seek Honors at Kelowna—J.B.A.A. Crews Entered

VANCOUVER, Aug. 2 (CP).—With their eyes on further laurels, a squad of Vancouver swimmers and rowers start their final brushing up on the water for the Kelowna regatta and swim gala at the interior city, August 8-9.

Eleven swimmers and four crews and their shells will represent Vancouver at the annual meet.

Frederic Rossiter, Crystal Swimming Club star and holder of three Canadian records, will go to Kelowna direct from Winnipeg, where he is competing in a swim gala at present. Kay Davidson, thirteen-year-old diving sensation and clubmate of the youthful Linda Adams, who accompanied the Canadian team to the British Empire games at London, England, will head a squad of four feminine stars from the Vancouver Swimming Club.

She will be accompanied by Dot Ford, who will take part in the medley; Kay Cooper, sprinter and mile entry; and Betty Barnhart, who finished second to Marion Moffat in the Wrigley mile at Victoria last year.

Members of the Victoria Polo Club Squad

THE Centaurs of the Victoria Polo Club, snapped just before they rode on the field to battle the Maple Bay squad, last Sunday, in an exhibition fixture at the Point Bay Road grounds. The locals suffered defeat, but hope to avenge this setback before the season is concluded. Saturday afternoon, on the same field, the Centaurs will play another match against the visiting H.M.S. Norfolk team. Left to right: J. Macalan, George Tyson, Stephen Lloyd, W. Johnson and N. Van der Vliet.

NORFOLK XI TRIMS NAVY FOOTBALLERS

Visiting Sailors Score 3-1 Victory—Mayor Leeming Presents Trophy

Scoring the only goal of the first half and adding two more in the final session, H.M.S. Norfolk's soccer eleven defeated the Royal Canadian Navy team, 3-1, yesterday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park. The Canadian blue-jackets netted their lone marker in the second half from a penalty kick taken by Bruce Robinson.

Immediately following the match, Mayor David Leeming presented Smith, captain of the visitors, with the handsome City of Victoria Navy Week Football Championship Cup put up for annual competition by the Naval Veterans Branch of the Canadian Legion, Victoria. In handing over the trophy, the city's chief magistrate complimented the teams on their fine sportsmanship and congratulated H.M.S. Norfolk's squad on its victory.

J. Wittcomb, president of the Naval Veterans, presented members of the team with silver cigarette cases as a souvenir of their visit to the city and to commemorate the winning of the beautiful trophy presented by the branch of which he is head.

Captain H. E. C. Blagrove, H.M.S. Norfolk, speaking on behalf of the ship's team, thanked the Naval Veterans and other distinguished naval officers who witnessed the match, and expressed the thanks of his ship's company for the hospitality extended during its visit to this city.

GOVERNOR ATTENDS
His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, accompanied by his secretary, A. M. D. Fairbairn, Vice-Admiral Drax, commander-in-chief of the America and West Indies squadrons; members of the City Council and other distinguished naval officers, witnessed the match.

Displaying more aggressiveness than their friendly rivals of the Canadian naval service and having an edge in the play, more particularly in the second half, the visiting sailors were full value for their 3-1 victory.

LOCALS SCORING
For thirty-seven minutes of the first half, the teams battled without a score. Finally, the Norfolk took the lead when Dick Caldwell, R.C.N. net minder, fumbled the ball after Lowry had headed goal-ward, and the leather bounced into an empty net. It was a lucky goal and the only score of the initial half.

Eastern XI to Play Fixtures With Cowichan

S. K. MATTERSON, secretary of the Cowichan Cricket Club, announced yesterday that the Canadian All-Star Eastern XI will play two exhibition fixtures on the Up-Island pitch September 13 and 14. ## CAMPBELL IS DEFEATED IN LINKS MEET

Seattle Youth Loses Hard Match to Seventeen-Year-Old Contender, 1 Up

SOUTH PARK, PITTSBURGH, Aug. 2 (AP).—A seventeen-year-old boy, who traveled nearly 5,000 miles from Hawaii to compete against the United States best public links golfers, today was heavy favorite in the competition and took a place among the four survivors of a field of 184.

Smiling Arthur Armstrong, competing in his first important tournament, gamboled with risky shots and made them good—one a sixty-five-foot putt—to eliminate Albert "Scotty" Campbell, of Seattle, twenty-year-old Canadian amateur champion, 1 up in a spectacular eighteen-hole quarter-final match.

Tomorrow, in one of the two semi-final matches, Armstrong will tackle long-hitting David A. Mitchell, of Indianapolis, who eliminated Don Ericson, of Los Angeles, 2 and 1.

The other semi-final will bring together Lorraine Young, of San Antonio, Texas, a highly-rated "dark horse" contender, and Joe Coria, of St. Paul, who dethroned Charles Ferrera, of San Francisco, the titleholder, in a stirring 2, 1 third-round match, and then went twenty holes to beat the smooth-stroking Gordon Denney, of Louisville, 1 up, in the quarter-finals.

LEO DIEGEL SETS FAST PACE IN CANADIAN OPEN

Record-Shattering Round of 65 Gives U.S. Pro Fine Lead

Four Times Winner of Golf Crown Uncorks Sensational Round to Take Five-Stroke Lead Over Tommy Armour—Shute Well Up—Black Has 78—Remainder of Field Far Behind

By A. E. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAKEVIEW GOLF CLUB, TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP).—Leo Diegel threw out a challenge, today, and it is very unlikely anyone would pick it up before the four times winner of the Canadian open golf championship had made it five. Diegel today mastered Lakeview's tough fairways and rolling greens. He shot a 65, five strokes better than anyone had ever made on this course in competition.

Leo, who won the title in 1924, 1925, 1928 and 1929, was figured tonight to have a better chance than anyone has ever had to take five major titles. He is the only man who has won the Canadian open four times. The Canadian open is ranked third among world competitions, the British and United States preceding it.

But there was a distinct threat lurking behind the clownish Diegel.

ARMOUR SECOND

Tommy Armour, the grey-thatched veteran from Washington, shot a 69 today. He was only four strokes behind Diegel, and four strokes in a competition of this kind doesn't mean a great deal. About 160 aspirants to the title finished the first eighteen holes, today.

Tomorrow, the same number will shoot another eighteen holes, the low 60 and ties going into the final thirty-six holes, Saturday. Diegel performed phenomenally today. Going out he beat par by one, shooting a 34, and barged home through a rainstorm for a 31, four under par, on the last nine. This gave him undisputed leadership.

Diegel was on his best, today. He showed the first evidence of it when he made the first hole in four. He shot birdies on the tenth, eleventh, thirteenth and sixteenth, and was one over on the eighteenth, as he had been on the last hole of the first half. It was a peculiarity of Diegel's phenomenal round that he did not shoot one eagle. His seven birdies indicated the consistency of Diegel's golf.

Armour's 69 put him within four strokes of Diegel. But he seemed to work much harder.

SHUTE WELL UP

Behind Diegel and Armour, both former winners of the Canadian title, was Denny Shute, with a 35-36—71. There were half a dozen at 72, enough in the first round of an ordinary tournament to assure a player of that score a chance, but Diegel's 65 put even the good 72 men seven strokes behind him, and all they could figure on tomorrow was a collapse from the nervous little professional, who has shown enough in other years to take the title.

Cards of few scorers, 70 and under, follow:

Fine Boxing Bout to Be Presented Tonight

Twelve Fights Carded at Armories, Under Direction of Canadian Scottish—Louis Callum Is on Card—Many Notables to Attend

With the boxers in the pink of condition and swaying the sound of the gong, which will send them into battle, everything is in readiness for the monster fight card, to be presented at the Bay Street Armory, this evening, under the auspices of the Canadian Scottish Regiment. The event, which is part of the Navy Week sports programme, will be conducted under Imperial Service Boxing Association rules, with the first boxers entering the ring at 8 o'clock.

Twelve bouts, bringing together the cream of glove throwers from H.M.S. Norfolk, Royal Canadian Navy and the local militia units, have been lined up for what promises to be one of the finest fight programmes staged here for a long time.

CALLUM TO FIGHT

In what should be one of the feature bouts on the card, Constable L. Callum, Victoria's fighting policeman, will step three rounds with A. B. Conway, of the Royal Canadian Navy, in the light-heavyweight division.

In the lightweight class, A. B. Norbeck, R.C.N., who made a good showing in the British Columbia amateur championships, will meet Gunner Brown, of the 8th B.C. Coast Brigade. Brown stepped four rounds with Charlie Jordan, present British Columbia champion, last week, in an exhibition match, and gave a good account of himself. His match with Norbeck this evening should be one of the best on the splendid programme.

The final bout will bring together A. B. Callahan, of H.M.S. Norfolk, and A. B. McGolderich, of the Royal Canadian Navy, in the middleweight class. Both fighters are highly rated and should put on a lively encounter. There are a number of other fine bouts, which makes the card look exceptionally interesting.

Toronto Sprint Ace Is Definitely Out Of Big Track Meet

Mildred Fizzell Ordered to Rest Up and Her Place Is Expected to Be Taken by Hilda Strike—Canada's Aquatic Stars Appear Confident

By THOMAS T. CHAMPELON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 2 (CP).—The old champion, pretty Hilda Strike, of Montreal, jumped suddenly into prominence, tonight, as a possible contender for women's sprint events at the British Empire games, which seemed likely to open at White City Stadium, Saturday, with Mildred Fizzell, of Toronto, on the sidelines.

When a doctor announced, today, that little Mills would have to rest at least two days while a torn thigh muscle healed, it became immediately apparent that Canadian team officials almost certainly would send Miss Strike to the starting line in the 100-yard dash. No official decision will be reached until tomorrow.

Forty-eight hours before the Empire's 500 chosen men and women open the second sports carnival of Commonwealth countries with a colorful parade in the White City Bowl, there was scarcely another worry in the big Canadian camp. Athletes of every division were eagerly awaiting the call.

TO REST UP
Miss Fizzell, fourth member of the 100-yard squad, will probably rest so that she can compete in the women's world games, which start here late next week. Miss Strike, who came overseas as a broad jumper, after failing to make the sprint team, was said to be in great condition, capable of turning in times comparable with her Olympic performances two years ago, when she placed second to Stella Walsh, of Poland.

Despite the fact they are pitted against world champions and record-breakers, Canadian swimmers were given a real chance to win events at the big Wembley pool, where a three-day swimming programme opens Saturday. There appeared to be few weaknesses on the Canadian water team.

No finals will be decided Saturday, but Canadians will have a chance to test the speed of English, Scottish, Australian and South African heats. Canada's hopes, George Larson, of Hamilton, and George Burleigh, of Toronto, may bump into such foes as Noel Crump, of New Zealand; Reg Clark, of Australia, and the Britons, M. French-Williams and Reg Sutton.

STRONG FAVORITE
Larson's time of 54.4 seconds in the Canadian trials served to make the Hamilton boy a hot favorite, however. The Empire record is 56 seconds, set at Hamilton in 1930 by Munroe Bourne, of Montreal. Robert Hooper, of Vancouver, and Ben Gazzell, of Toronto, are the other Canadian entries in the short sprint.

As long as Australia's Noel Ryan is in form, no one else can be called favorite for the 1500 yards event. But the great swimmer from the other side of the world, who holds the Empire 440 and 1500 yards titles, was faced with a powerful field, including Bob Pirie, of Toronto, and two star Britons, Norman Wainwright and Fred Milton.

Ryan's Empire record of 19 minutes 55.4 seconds seemed certain to fall. Pirie raced the distance in 18:16.4 at the Canadian trials, and some English critics thought a similar performance would carry the young Canadian to victory at Wembley.

The best Canadian back stroke prospect, Warren Fry, of Toronto, will have a hard time defeating such as Willie Francis, of Scotland, and Jack Bedford, of England, but Bill Puddy, Toronto breast stroke artist, was regarded as an outstanding challenger for the 200 yards title.

Canada's feminine swim aces also faced stiff opposition. Irene Pirie, of Toronto, and Phyllis Dewar, of Moose Jaw, Sask., were entered in the 100 and 440 yards free style events. Miss Pirie stood an excellent chance of capturing the quarter-mile, with Jennie Maakal, of South Africa, a keen rival. Miss Maakal was third in the 1932 Olympic 400 meters.

Phyllis Haslem, of Saskatoon, broke the world 200 yards breast stroke record in winning the Canadian trial, and she may have to do it again to beat Claire Dennis, Australia's Olympic titleholder. The seventeen-year-old Australian star made yesterday.

WILL ROGERS IS STAR OF COMEDY

"Handy Andy" Is Lively Picture—Comedian Has Role of Romancing Chemist

Will Rogers is uproarious in "Handy Andy," which opens at the Dominion Theatre today, according to reports from the Coast preview. In the picture his wife, Peggy Wood, wants him to play—and he does. And thereby hangs most of the hilarious situations that go to make this his funniest picture.

Things run smoothly as long as Rogers is in his drug store. But when he sells out and starts to play, he finds life complicated. First he raises pigeons, until they escape into the house. Then he tries golf, with screaming funny results.

But the climax comes when he goes with his wife to New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras. He refuses to attend the ball with her. Later, however, wandering around alone, he encounters a fellow drugist and his lovely girl friend, Conchita Montenegro.

Mellowed by a few cocktails, Will decides to attend the ball after all, and he chooses a dancing skin as his costume. Then the fun begins. His rough and tumble dance starts a fight that ends in a riot. And there's a surprise ending that hasn't been divulged in advance of the showing.

PLAYHOUSE To Frances Marion, famous woman scenarist, belongs the distinction of being the "discoverer" of Zasu Pitts, inimitable comedienne playing R. K. Pictures' "The Meanest Girl in Town," now at the Playhouse Theatre. When Miss Pitts came to Hollywood as a gawky girl in her teens bent on a movie career, Miss Marion used her influence with film producers to secure minor roles for the aspiring young actress.

EMPIRE The Casanova Revue, Theatre now on the Empire Theatre stage, is led by Phil Rich, who convulses the audience with clever mimicry and comedy. He introduces a cast of twenty, including the beautiful Di Gaetano Dancers, Earl Scholl, famous tenor; the Dean Sisters, acrobatic dancers; Madelyn Dressler, the Russell Sisters and others, supported by the Casanova Orchestra, masters of rhythm and syncopation.

COLUMBIA Arline Judge, cast as the sweetheart of Jack Oakie, hilariously funny telephone company repair man in "Looking for Trouble," the current 20th Century Pictures picture at the Columbia Theatre, was born in Bridgeport, Connecticut. She was graduated from the Ursuline Academy prep school there and then attended college in New Rochelle for a year.

HALIBUT CATCH NEARING END

Quota of Fish in B.C. Waters Nearly Reached—Closure Coming August 19

By order of the International Fisheries Commission, the halibut season in area No. 2, in the Pacific Northwest, will close on August 19. Provincial fishery officers were advised, yesterday, Area No. 2 extends from Willapa Bay to Cape Spencer, and includes virtually all halibut banks in British Columbia waters. Too rapid rate of landings will exhaust the quota set for the area several weeks before the season would normally have closed.

Up to June 30, halibut landings in the area were 6,125,000 pounds, about 20 per cent more than the catch reported at the same date last year, when landings were 4,904,000 pounds. For the whole season the estimate from area No. 2 is placed at 8,800,000 pounds, compared to 7,550,000 pounds last year. This indicates a higher catch this season than in any year of the last twenty years, with the exception of 1921 and 1928.

Warnings were issued by the International Fisheries Commission on several occasions that the permissive halibut quota was being exhausted too fast. The warning went without visible effect, and, in consequence, the season will close about the middle of this month, instead of in September.

The Canadian portion of the halibut catch in area No. 2 was 41 per cent, the bulk of the landings still being by American vessels. There was some increase, however, from last year, when Canadian landings were 34 per cent of the total recorded in this area.

LOUD SPEAKERS ARE USED AT ARMORIES

A large amount of the success achieved at the mammoth naval smelter, held Wednesday night at the Armories, was due to the arrangements made whereby every member of the audience, numbering nearly one thousand sailors, was able to hear the speakers and entertainers. This was made possible through the arrangement of a Northern Electric public address system, lent for the occasion through the courtesy of the Northern Electric Company. Two large loud speakers were set up with amplifiers that increased the sound and made audible every note and syllable of speaker or singer.

Held under the auspices of the Naval Veterans' Branch of the Canadian Legion, the smelter was given in honor of the visiting navy men.

W. C. FIELDS JUGGLES IN LATEST PICTURE

The famous comedy juggling act that made W. C. Fields, Paramount player, a Ziegfeld Follies star was recorded for the first time by the movie camera for his new starring picture, "The Old-Fashioned Way," coming to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

In "The Old-Fashioned Way" Fields plays a backwoods Barrymore, who, between eluding furious sheriffs and over-ripe vegetables, finds time to foster the romance of his daughter, played by Judith Allen, and even to indulge in a little romance himself.

Adolphe Menjou and Elissa Landi are also on the same bill in "The Great Flirtation."

WANT VICTORIA ON ITINERARY

Alaska Steamship Co. Asked to Resume Call of Ships to This Port

A concerted effort is being made by the city, Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria and Island Publicity Board to induce the Alaska Steamship Company, of Seattle, to again include Victoria on the itinerary of its northbound ships.

Last Summer, vessels of this line called here regularly and gave some 250 tourists each trip an opportunity to make sightseeing trips around Victoria. This year, Victoria was dropped from the itinerary, except for one trip.

Yesterday, George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, wrote to T. B. Womum, president of the Alaska Steamship Company, urging him to again place Victoria on the ports included on the Alaska tour itinerary.

This request supplements similar ones that have been made by the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor David Leeming, on behalf of the City Council.

Little Bedtime Stories

Billy Possum Visits the Smiling Pool

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Little Joe Otter and Billy Mink were sitting on the Big Rock in the Smiling Pool. Because they had nothing else to do they were planning mischief. Jerry Muskrat was busy filling his new house with food for the winter. He was too busy to get into mischief.

Suddenly Billy Mink put a finger on his lips as a warning to Little Joe Otter to keep perfectly still. Billy's sharp eyes had seen something moving over in the burrows. Together he and Little Joe Otter watched, ready to dive into the Smiling Pool at the first sign of danger.

In a few minutes the rushes parted and a sharp little old face peered out. Little Joe Otter and Billy Mink each sighed with relief as their eyes began to dance. "Hi, Unc' Billy Possum!" shouted Billy Mink.

A grin crept over the sharp, little, old face peering out from the burrows. "Hi, yo'll!" he shouted, for it really was Unc' Billy Possum.

"What are you doing over here?" called Little Joe Otter.

"Just a lookin' round," replied Unc' Billy Possum, his eyes twinkling.

"Have you heard about Reddy Fox?" shouted Billy Mink.

"Ah dun just come from his home," replied Unc' Billy Possum. "How is he?" asked Little Joe Otter.

"Polly; he sho'ly is polly," replied Unc' Billy Possum, shaking his head soberly. Then Unc' Billy told Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter how Reddy Fox was so stiff and sore and sick that he couldn't get anything to eat for himself, and how Old Granny Fox had lost a chicken which she had caught for him.

"Serves him right!" exclaimed Billy Mink, who has never forgotten how Reddy Fox fooled him and caught the most fish once upon a time.

Unc' Billy nodded his head. "Yo are right. Yo' certainly are right. Yes, sah. Ah reckons yo' are right. Was yo' ever hungry, Billy Mink—red hungry?" asked Unc' Billy Possum.

Billy Mink thought of the time when he went without his dinner.

HURRY HOME NOT WANTED

No Bidders for Former Rum Ship at Mainland Admiralty Sale

VANCOUVER, Aug. 2 (CP).—No bids were made to buy the 100-foot motor vessel, Hurry Home, ex-sub-chaser and ex-rum-runner, when she was offered for sale on the courthouse steps, today, by Deputy Marshal W. B. Cochrane, pursuant to Admiralty Court order. The sale was thereupon adjourned to August 9.

Mr. Justice Martin ordered sale of the vessel to satisfy a wage claim of Maurice Croft Brook, New Westminster, for $450.

Since the boat has been plastered with another writ at the suit of Chance Adams, Vancouver, who claims $2,241, mostly wages, when employed as master of the vessel in bringing her from Ensenada to Vancouver.

The Pacific Freight & Navigation Co., Ltd., purchased the Hurry Home in 1931.

Racing in British Columbia

By JAMES DE M. CURTIS

That British Columbia is horse-race inclined is evident from the increasingly large attendance at Lansdowne, Brighouse and Hastings Parks, which finished the first half of their racing season last week. Unquestionably horse racing has developed into the premier sport and most popular diversion in British Columbia, and is followed throughout the province with keen interest and enthusiasm by all grades of society. However, few horsemen or racers who participate in the enjoyment and thrills of the sport under semi-tropical and gay environment ever give much thought to the promoters who have by their initiative, untiring labor, and no little sacrifice, been instrumental in placing the sport on its already high plane.

Special reference is made to the familiar figure of S. W. Randall, internationally known businessman and sportsman, and an outstanding figure of the Vancouver Racing Association, who for upwards of twenty years has dedicated a great deal of his time and fortune to the enhancement of the sport in his home town and on the Island, and who may be fittingly described as the Father of Racing in British Columbia. In passing, special tribute must likewise be accorded the late lamented Robert Leighton, racing secretary for so many years, who during his active and distinguished career contributed in no small measure to the development of the sport in British Columbia, and to whom very much credit is also due.

During these latter years, with the close co-operation of other prominent British Columbia enthusiasts, Major Austin Taylor and Mr. Hamby, two wealthy gentlemen of Vancouver, decided to become breeders and owners of thoroughbred racehorses, and the filip it has given to racing is well known to all. A few more such gentlemen were to join the ranks, the racing agents would be in a position to complete their ideal in the purpose of bringing together and matching the finest thoroughbreds under conditions favorable for all parties concerned, and conducive to stirring up international interest for the sport from a competitive standpoint. As a matter of fact, it takes a whole lot of faith, patience, enthusiasm and courage to finance and conduct a race meeting, even when the objective is purely for the purpose of satisfying what may be termed a pastime or hobby, with small remuneration attached, as is the case with the Vancouver associations in connection with horse racing and the betterment of thoroughbred stock in the Province, and too much credit cannot be given in view of the enormous benefits that are necessarily conferred on the community.

As there are many valuable purses to be offered at the forthcoming Lansdowne and Brighouse Park meetings this month, let it be hoped in all future handicaps to be run there will be that requisite number of entries compatible with the purses offered, as three and four runners are not conducive to spirited wagering on the race, and least alone to the satisfaction of the racing associations. Owners entering their horses on the British Columbia tracks enjoy considerably more lenience than they do on Eastern tracks, as in all overnight events and handicaps an owner can only withdraw his horse free of charge when there are more than eight runners. If there are less, he cannot declare out without the consent of the stewards, and then only upon payment of five per cent of the first money. The directors of the Eastern tracks reserve the right to cancel any race closing during the continuation of the meeting and substitute others, but apparently this is not done on the Mainland tracks. Expressing my view, the racing associations in Vancouver, in their laudable desire to hang up big purses to attract the entries of the cream of the thoroughbreds racing there, have opened the door too wide, and by indulging in what may be termed exceptional leniency, have created difficulties for themselves. But time will probably provide a remedy, and it can be left to time and past experience.

The teacher was telling his class about the conquest of Alexander the Great. He made the tale a stirring one.

"When Alexander had conquered India," he said, "what do you think he did? Do you think he gave a great feast to celebrate his triumph? No, he sat down and wept."

The children seemed a little disappointed at this childish exhibition on the part of the hero; so the teacher continued: "Now why do you think Alexander wept?" he asked.

Up went a little hand. "Well, Tommy?" said the teacher. "Please, sir," said Tommy hesitatingly, "perhaps he didn't know the way back."

When Cecil Rhodes founded Rhodesia

Fifty years ago, when that pioneer of Empire Cecil Rhodes was founding Rhodesia, we were pioneering Australian Wines.

And with something of Cecil Rhodes' doggedness and optimism, we slowly plodded our way against the prejudice which then existed against Empire Wines.

Today, EMU Australian Wines are recognised throughout the Empire as being amongst the choicest wines produced anywhere. For example, EMU 444 and EMU 999—White and Tawny Port—challenge comparison with Foreign Port. They are full-strength wines of outstanding merit and cost you far less than Foreign Port of equal quality because they receive a tariff preference when entering Canada—due to their Empire origin.

Virginia Vane Says:

DON'T MIX LOVE AND RELIGION

Dear Virginia Vane: The man I'm interested in is not a church-goer. That is to say he has shown very little interest in religion since I met him. My family are very strict on the subject, and so am I. From the first I have tried to persuade him to go to church with me, and once or twice he has agreed. But lately he has refused to accompany me, and now he seems to want to break up our friendship. I could care for him a great deal if only he would do this one thing to please me. But he is obstinate, and I know that I shall have to let him go unless I can persuade him to do as I wish. Unhappy.

This "one thing" which he won't do for you happens to be concerned with one of the most vital forces in the world. For the sake of this "one thing" wars have been fought, kingdoms have been ransomed, men have given their lives, women have offered up their children.

Religion, unhappy, is not a question of pretty promises and of neat little Sunday rules. Religion is a deep-rooted feeling in most of us. And if we're wise, we never tamper with each other's religious beliefs. We never attempt to cure each other of what looks like an absence of religious belief by exacting promises.

You have no idea probably what this man's true religious feeling is. You haven't sounded him out on the subject. You haven't approached the matter intelligently and carefully.

You've simply pointed the finger of scorn at him, figuratively, and said: "You don't go to church. What sort of man are you?"

This attitude of yours hasn't made him feel very sympathetic about your religious principles. Undoubtedly he's been slightly offended and rather inclined to oppose you—just out of sheer cussedness.

And when he's shown signs of fight you haven't attempted to reason with him or to point out to him why in your estimation church-going is a necessary thing. You've said reproachfully, "If you loved me you'd go to church. You don't care for me enough."

Indeed, one of your chief causes for complaint right now is the fact that your hero won't prove his love for you by docilely trotting along to church by your side.

Don't mix the issues. If you want your man to become more interested in religion, steer him toward the kind of people who will give him some understanding and help in the right direction. Don't ask him to put up a pretence for love's sweet sake. Polite courtship pretences never brought any hardened sinners to see the light.

GIVE HUSBAND TASTE OF OLD-FASHIONED HOUSEWORK

Dear Miss Vane: I have a modern home and am a very efficient housekeeper. I have simplified my housework so that I have a great deal of leisure time, and I employ it profitably.

But my husband never stops complaining—not about the quality of the housework, but about the fact that I have so much free time and he has so little. He is always grumbling. He would like to see me hard at work when he gets home at night. And he practically admits this fact. He has often told me that his mother was the most wonderful housekeeper in the world, yet I know that she slaved her life away on chores which are unnecessary today. What can I say to him to change his point of view?—R.D.

Yes, your husband is one of the old fundamentalists. "Woman's place is in the kitchen, bending over a hot stove, struggling with heavy buckets of water, staggering under the load of a hundred back-breaking tasks." That, believe it or not, is the way some men still feel about the women they're supposed to love and cherish and protect till their dying day. Of course, they don't reason things out. They're not that kind.

Maybe it would be a good idea of the modern wife to give her old-fashioned husband a jolt. Greet him when he comes home from the office with a nice homey scene—the kind he's been longing for.

Have the kitchen at boiling point; let the general scene suggest that there's been a war recently in the neighborhood. Array yourself in something that looks limp and frayed and worn. Let your locks hang dankly from your perspiring forehead as you raise your head wearily to greet: "Oh, what a day! I'm nearly dead. Dinner will be ready just as soon as I can get around to it."

Try this over in your kitchenette. Or try something similar. Bring it home to your husband that the wife who can furnish good meals and keep her home running smoothly without visible effort is worth a dozen of the poor, tired slaves whose home-making left them very little of vitality or courage or cheerful optimism.

Pin the old-fashioned brute down. Did his mother look her best after a hard day's work? Was she an entertaining companion or just a worn-out drudge?

Would he rather you used up all your energy on being his idea of a perfect housewife—or will he admit that he's glad you conserve enough to be a happy, amusing companion?

Ask him a few of these simple questions, and if he won't listen to reason, then give him a dose of what he's asking for. One or two hot and bothered kitchen scenes should cure him of his nostalgia for the dear old days.

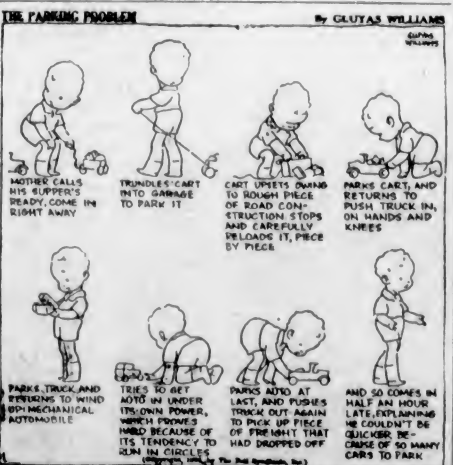

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Newspapers, Inc.)

Chauncey M. Depew loved to tell the story of his boyish experience in buying a dog. It seems the dog had spots of brown and black when he bought it, spots which washed out the first rainy day. And when young Depew took the dog back to the seller, the seller glanced at the dog and exclaimed: "Great guns, boy! There was an umbrella with him. Didn't you get one?"

50 YEARS A MARTYR TO CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Welcome Relief

Read this splendid letter from Mrs. Haynes:

"For 50 years I have been a martyr to constipation. Have tried every remedy under the sun. 'One day I read an account of some one who had been relieved by ALL-BRAN, but I thought 'What was the use of me trying anything more when all else had failed!'"

"A while after, I read it again. That time I thought I would try it. It did me no harm anyway."

"I began with a small dish of your ALL-BRAN for breakfast, and wonderful to say, I never need to take any physic at all now. How I wish other poor sufferers from constipation could be persuaded to try it."—Mrs. Sarah Haynes (address furnished upon request).

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. Also iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. It's so much safer than taking patent medicines! Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get this delicious ready-to-eat cereal from your grocer. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

NERVOUS INDIGESTION—GASTRIC NEUROSES

One of the names that physicians are not using any more is "nervous indigestion," as it has been thought that this expression covers too many symptoms.

However, there is no question but that upset nerves can cause an upset stomach and symptoms resembling indigestion, as it has been thought that this expression covers too many symptoms.

That the emotions can upset the stomach, liver, intestines, heart and lungs, in fact, every organ, has now been established.

And so we find that instead of using the name "nervous indigestion," the term "gastric neurosis" is used. Neurosis means that there is a disturbance in an organ, with apparently no actual cause for it, as there is no inflammation, or any change in the structure of the organ.

Now, when a patient complains of indigestion and the symptoms resemble real ailments like ulcer or cancer, the physician must be very sure as to the exact trouble in order to treat it properly.

If after careful examination, long questioning, the use of the X-ray for examination, and laboratory tests, the physician feels sure that the trouble is not organic—ulcer or cancer—he must then treat the patient's mind, which, after all, is causing the disturbance.

Dr. H. Doerfler, Munich, states that in gastric neurosis the result of the treatment depends to a great extent on the "suggestive" power of the physician, because as the disturbances are due to the nervous system, only a stronger suggestive or nervous system can rid the individual of them.

"Persons with gastric neurosis are affected by their method of living, overexcitement, anxiety, vexations, unsatisfied ambitions."

One point of difference between real ailments and those caused by nervousness is that a patient with cancer or ulcer generally describes his symptoms more quietly and complains of not being able to tolerate heavy foods, while the patient with neurosis occasionally admits that a particularly heavy meal is well tolerated. It is characteristic for the patient with neurosis that his pains often disappear when his mind gets on other subjects, particularly when he enjoys himself.

You can thus see that if after careful examination the physician is convinced that there is no organic trouble, he must put all his efforts into persuading the patient that the trouble is really due to "nervousness."

At that moment the commissionaire noticed them.

"Wah, then, 'op it!" he ordered brusquely.

"Blimey, he's only a boishie," was the joint conclusion of the disillusioned spectators, as they turned away.

"I tell you he's a general."

"Garn, he's an admiral," said the companion.

At that moment the commissionaire noticed them.

"Blimey, he's only a boishie," was the joint conclusion of the disillusioned spectators, as they turned away.
